

DETAILED ACTION

Based on a number of communications between the Applicant and the Examiner, Applicant has amended the claims as shown above. As such, Applicant believes that independent claims, as well as the claims that depend from them, are in condition for allowance.

The Examiner believes a terminal disclaimer needs to be filed. However, Applicant believes the currently amended claims are sufficiently different from the claims in the 12/241,140 patent application. For example, the following limitation is not presented in the claims of the 12/241,140 patent application: extracting at least one identifier from determined by an output of the data stores of the system based on the received input, wherein if the at least one identifier from the data stores of the system matches the at least one access information, the given conferee is able to enroll in the conferencing services. As such, Applicant believes that the present patent application is in condition for allowance.

Respectfully submitted,
WEST CORPORATION
